FOR REGISTRATION

SHERIFF DOWDEN RECEIVES THE GOVERNMENT RULES FOR JUNE 5.

WHO MUST REGISTER

Government Explains That There Is No Desire to Draft Persons Having Dependents.

Sheriff Dowden today received the registration regulations as prescribed by the president under authority of the act of congress approved May 18, for conscription on June 5. These regulations will be given to the registrars who have been selected by Sheriff Dowden.

It is the duty of every person who has knowledge of any evasion of registration to furnish such information. Those who fail to register will be subject to prosecution by the federal government, the penalty being imprisonment instead of a fine.

Every person between 21 and 31, will have to register. In an official guide, it explains that there is no desire by the government to draft any one who is the sole supporter of any man, woman or child, but points out that "unless the person you have in mind is solely dependent on you," exemption would not be granted.

Who Will Be Dropped.

The registrar will drop permanently from the list those whom physical defects, such as the absence of a leg or an arm, make obviously unfit for service, but all other claims for exemption will be passed upon by the local boards. The applicant will be required to state specifically the character of the work he is performing in order that the board may judge if it is such as to warrant the government in excusing him from army duty.

All prisoners and also persons awaiting trial between those ages will have to register. "If you are a felon or otherwise morally deficient and desire to claim exemption on that ground state your ground briefly," says the guide.

The difference between a "natural born" citizen and a naturalized citizen is explained carefully and it is pointed out that even alien enemies within the age limit will be required to register, although they will not be drafted.

Sick Must Register, Too.

Dispatches from Washington today point out that if a young man's twenty-first birthday falls on June 7, he must register, but on the other hand, if his thirty-first birthday falls on that date he is exempt.

Persons ill on registration day must send a representative for a registration card, and it must be returned on registration day.

Sheriff Dowden received 2,835 registration cards, the number being estimated on a 10 per cent basis of the total population of Nodaway county by the 1910 census.

Walter Cochran has been selected by Sheriff Dowden as registrar for South Lincoln precinct at Dawson.

MAY NAME COUNTY COUNCIL

Fifteen Township Chairmen of Food Production Campaign May Constitute Local Defense Unit.

There is a possibility that the fifteen township chairmen appointed by the county central committee to look after the food production interests in the county may be chosen to constitute the Nodaway Council of National Defense.

Secretary E. M. Claypool this morning received a letter from J. A. Houchin of St. Louis, president of the Federated Commercial clubs of Missouri, in which Mr. Houchin stated that he would recommend that this appointment be made by the State Council of National Defense. The duties of the county council will be the same as those of the state council.

LIBERTY BOND DAY

GOVERNOR GARDNER SETS ASIDE MAY 25 FOR WAR AID.

WANTS SLOGAN ADOPTED

Urges That Citizens in Mass Meeting Adopt "A Liberty Bond in Every Home" as Patriotic Duty.

Governor Gardner has issued a proclamation setting apart Friday, May 25, as Liberty Bond Day and asking the people of the state to meet upon that day in mass meeting and adopt the slogan, "A Liberty Bond in Every Home." Governor Gardner also suggests that the services in every church at the state on Sunday morning, May 27, be of a patriotic character.

No arrangements have been made for any meeting in this county. Many of the bankers of the county are in attendance today at the State Bankers Meeting in St. Joseph and to hear Secretary of Treasury McAdoo on the Liberty Bonds. At present the public opinion has responded slowly to buying the bonds here.

The following telegram was received this morning by the Democrat-Forum:

"Please request the papers of your city and county, and the chairmen of the Democratic and Republican county committees and their respective members, county officials, bankers, business men, farmers and others, to co-operate in making effective the slogan, "A Liberty Bond in Every Home," agreeable to the governor's proclamation for a patriotic meeting in every school district on Friday afternoon at two o'clock."

The telegram was signed by Rolla Wells, N. A. McMillen, Walker Hill, Breckenridge Jones, William H. Lee, John G. Lonsdale, E. B. Pryor, Festus J. Wade, Frank O. Watts, William R. Compton, J. L. Babler and Edward F. Goltra.

What is a Liberty Loan Bond?

A liberty loan bond is a solemn promise of the United States to pay at maturity the amount of the bond to the holder thereof, and to pay interest semi-annually each year from the date of the issuance of the bond until it is fully paid.

What is the Security for a Liberty Loan Bond?

The faith and honor of the United States, backed by all of the resources of the nation and the American people. A liberty loan bond is a mortgage on all the resources and taxing powers of the government and all of the resources of the American people.

What is the Nature of A Liberty Loan Bond?

There are two kinds of liberty loan bonds. Bearer bonds are to be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000. These bearer bonds, which are made payable to bearer, have interest coupons attached which are detached by the holder when the interest installments they represent are due, and can be cashed at any bank the same as a United States treasury note.

Registered bonds are to be issued, which are registered as to both principal and interest, in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000 $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 and $100,000; checks for the amount of interest due will be mailed out semi-annually to the holders of these registered bonds.

What are the Terms of A Liberty Loan Bond ?

Liberty loan bonds of the first issue of $2,000,000,000 are to bear date of June 15, 1917, and to run for thirty years, except that the government reserves the right to pay them fifteen years after date. If this right is not exercised by the government fifteen years from date, the bonds will run the full thirty years.

These bonds bear interest at 3½ per cent per annum, and the interest is payable semi-annually on the fifteenth day of December and the fifteenth day of June in each year.

What Special Advantage Have These Liberty Loan Bonds?

One especial advantage no other bonds, national, state, municipal, or corporate, have is that if the United States during the continuance of this war shall issue other bonds at a higher rate of interest, the holders of these liberty bonds have the right to exchange their liberty bonds for bonds bearing the higher rate of interest.

USEFUL INVENTIONS

HOMRR CROY TELLS SOME LISTED IN WASHINGTON OFFICE.

DESIGNED FOR BIRDS, TOO

Tornado-Proof House, Spectacles for Hens and Chewing Gum Receptacle Among Inventions.

"Wilder than the dreams of Edison, says Homer Croy, "are the actualities presented at the Washington patent office for registration, and to them are granted papers protecting them from imitators—on inventions and appliances that one wonders who could be so mad as to wish to imitate."

It will suffice to "dash off" a few of the marvelous inventions which Mr. Croy has seen and recorded in the Scientific American. Among labor-saving devices, to begin with, might be mentioned the hat tipper. This was designed, evidently, for the laziest man in the world. Its operation does not require the user to remove his hands from his pockets upon meeting a friend of the gentler sex. A simple, graceful inclination of the head operates a small spring-and-governor combination, artfully concealed inside the hat, which raises the hat a little and softly replaces it; an extra motion of the head will even rotate the hat, a la Chaplin, to lend a finishing touch to the salutation.

Among other unique ronceits may be mentioned. A tornado proof house constructed on a pivot—the tornado rotates the house, like a merry-go-round; an arrangement like a horse's bit which prevents snoring; an adaptation of the useful corncob as a polisher for artificial teeth; a neat, bifurcated rubber tube which, concealed beneath the clothing, enables the pedestrian to breathe upon his toes in winter time and warm them; an arrangement above a door which throws red pepper in the eyes of anyone attempting to break in.

There are numerous inventions designed to annoy the heavy sleeper. Most of these are devises attached to alarm clocks. One rouses the victim by violently shaking his arm. Another releases a slat in the bed and thows the sleeper on the floor. Another is intended for use by the attendant in a garage; a wire or string attached to the legs of a specially constructed bed passes out through the garage wall and across the entrance way for motor cars. The obvious operation is said to be instantaneous and very effective.

For those who keep barn yard fowl two inventions will be of interest. One is a pair of spectacles to prevent the hen's eyes from being scratched out; the other is an eye shield and prevents chickens from flying over the fence.

Last, but not least, may be mention-

OXFORD SOLDIERS

THE UNIVERSITY HAS FURNISHED 10,500 GRADUATES FOR ARMY.

ADVERTISING IS CHANGED

Calling for Recruits Has Revolutionized English Notions of Publicity Says Mr. Nash.

(By Vernon Nash).

Although my weekly letters may stray off into other subjects before I finish, it is inevitable these days that my first thoughts should always be about our trip to India. We are all in great spirits since the possibility of getting out to do something of permanent value has opened out before us. For most of us, the living across the road from a fire without making any efforts to save anything or to help those who are being burned, is intolerable.

Oxford Students Serving.

The Vice-Chancellor announced the war figures for Oxford at the beginning of the year. Ten thousand five hundred students and graduates are under arms and 500 others are in other Government service. This last figure will be doubled or tripled by the recent appeals to National Service. Of those in actual military service, 1,200 have been killed; 1,100 have received distinctions of various kinds and 103 are missing. These are large figures when one considers that Oxford's enrollment has always been less than 2,000 including women and the large percentage of foreign students.

In Times of Emergency.

"In times of emergency, folks should emerge," says our Provost and the able-bodied person in civilian dress can but feel like a "slacker" even if his allegiance is to another country. We still hear the "kids" on the streets singing a song which was quite popular with them before the days of conscription. The tune is that of the old childhood game of "I've come to borrow your milkwagon," and the words are: "Kitchener wants some more recruits, some more recruits, etc., say! What's the matter with you?" The question is shouted with pointed finger at anyone not in kakhi. The song has revived somewhat under the appeals for enrollment in industrial and dollar for dollar.

What Other Special Advantages Do These Bonds Possess?

They are non-taxable. If your city, county, and state taxes are three mills on the dollar, a not unusual tax, these bonds are equivalent to ordinary corporate bonds or other investments bearing 6½ per cent.

In addition, no federal tax which war conditions may later make necessary will affect these bonds. The only tax these bonds are subject to is the inheritance tax, which applies to property of all kinds whatsoever.

How Are Liberty Bonds Obtainable?

Blank forms of application for the purchase of these bonds can be obtained from the treasury department any federal reserve bank, any national, state, or private bank, any express office, and any postoffice in the United States. Any bank or postmaster will aid applicant in filling out his blank and the other acts necessary to obtain these bonds.

Bonds are to be issued of small denominations, and subscribers for small amounts are to be supplied before the subscribers for large amounts are granted their full subscription.

The bonds can be purchased in installments. The dates for payments are as follows: 2 per cent on application, 18 per cent on June 28, 20 per cent on July 30, 30 per cent on August 15, and 30 per cent on August 30.

It Is Patriotic to Buy Them.

Every American who loves America and is jealous of America's honor should subscribe to the liberty loan bond issue. The real success of the loan is to be more determined by the number of Americans participating in it than by the amount subscribed. The spirit of the nation is going to be judged abroad, especially by our enemies, more by the number of its American men and women who support this bond issue than by the mere amount of money subscribed.

Publicity Work Wonderful.

The advertising and publicity work of the British government are wonderfully admirable. They will unquestionably be studied for years as examples of compelling ads. Although they used to have much to say about the way America desecrated her scenery with billboards, we now see Trafalgar Square, the Bank of England, and other public buildings and places all over the country, decorated with immense red letters, pictures and mottoes.

It is always spoken of in a sort of apologetic tone as American advertising methods which is true as the head of that department was in business in America for many years. But English business can never be the same again, the astounding and astonishing responses which the methods have produced in an absolutely new field, not callous to great page ads so much as in America—the results of "booster" advertising—has converted and will revolutionize trade conditions, I believe, in this country.

War Plays Strange Tricks.

But war plays some strange tricks on the newspaper game. After the years in which I have seen publishers railing at the "moucher" who borrows his neighbors' papers, it seems quite odd to find so many of the English newspapers now urging their readers to form clubs of subscribers to take only one paper and pass it around, thus meeting the paper shortage. All of them are lifting their prices radically. The London Times is now selling at four cents.

Newspaper fads and fancies in the war change in a most interesting manner from time to time. The English papers seldom print bitter and hateful things about the Kaiser and Crown Prince. Ridicule is preferred. The former from the appelation of "War Lord" now is almost universally called "All-Highest," and the latter is seldom depicted in quip or picture without a frequent use of the word "Papa" in his speech. The new Austrian emperor has the title of "Baby Girl."

War Affects Oxford.

The war continues to affect Oxford in peculiar ways. Chemistry, which before the war was in great disrepute and greeted with the disdainful nickname of "stinks" now occupies an important and honored place in the activities of the university as a considerable group of specialists are here working on medicine, explosives and dye-stuffs, et cetera. It is a glorious chance for the science men among the Rhodes Scholars who have been able to come over during this time. For surgeons, almost every day brings an opportunity for witnessing in a clinic some rare operations in the many hospitals created from the schools and colleges here.

Sight of Wounded.

The large number of wounded also furnishes another frequent sight to stir the affective sensibilities of men who are susceptible to such things. When a chap is convalescing but still unable to travel, the young lady who is so fortunate to be attached to him comes to Oxford to visit "her soldier." We see many cases every day. They can always be distinguished from other and less attractive couples by their glowing happiness and the ever-present guidebook as "he" shows "her" the sights of England's most famous university city.

URGES FOOD PRESERVING

H. L. Haines Says That Necessity of Saving Foodstuffs Becomes More Urgent as Gardens Produce.

"The necessity of conserving the food stuffs of the county is each day becoming more urgent," said H. L. Haines, chairman of the Factory and Community committee of the Maryville Commercial club today. "The farm gardens are all yielding their products now and in most cases there is a greater supply than demand for the products both at the farms and at the stores. This surplus crop should be taken care of, and drastic measures to insure the conservation of this crop should be taken at once.

"I was in the country yesterday," said Mr. Haines, "and I saw a garden that had an enormous crop of rhubarb, all ready for consumption. The woman at the farm told me that it was impossible for her to use all of it, and that because of sickness in the family she was unable to market it. There it was in the ground going to waste for want of persons to take care of it and preserve it for the future when rhubarb will taste pretty good as an item on the war menu.

"I think that the food conservation committees should attend to these matters at once, and make provision for the preservation of this food which will be worth its weight in gold if food shortage should come upon us."

BOLCKOW AUTO ACCIDENT

Miss Edith Shaver Seriously Injured and Three Others Bruised as Car Goes Into 20-Foot Ditch.

Miss Edith Shaver was seriously injured, and Miss Verna Johnson, Lemon Hubbel and Wright Van Meter were badly bruised in an automobile accident which took place about 10:30 o'clock last night.

The party was returning to their home in Bolckow from Barnard where they had attended the Barnard High school class play. They reached a bad place near a bridge at the Field farm, two and one-half miles south of Barnard, and as they passed over the road, a part of the embankment gave way, sending the car into the ditch, twenty feet below.

The car turned over, pinning the two girls beneath it.

Miss Shaver suffered a broken rib and severe internal injuries. Miss Johnson, Mr. Hubbel and Mr. Van Meter were bruised, but received no serious injuries. Doctor Larrabee of Barnard was called and took Miss Shaver to her home in Bolckow. She is suffering intensely today. Miss Johnson is confined to her bed from the shock.

COMMUNICATION

Editor the Democrat-Forum:

Through the columns of the Democrat-Forum I want to appeal to the people of Maryville and Nodaway county, particularly to the graduates and former students of the University, to lend financial aid to the University of Missouri unit of the American Ambulance Field Service now being recruited here for service in France. This organization will be the first to carry the name of Missouri to the battlefields of Europe, and inasmuch as the boys are volunteering their work with no expectation of pay — giving freely of their time, their labor, perhaps their lives — it is fitting that those interested in the response of the United States, in the success of the Allies, in helping particularly the French and in relieving suffering should contribute to the fund for expenses.

The unit will consist of twenty-five ambulance drivers. It will sail from New York about the middle of June. The expenses will be approximately $9,000. If the Government of the United States takes over the expense of uniforms and the trip to France — as we have official assurance it will — the $9,000 will send three units to represent Missouri.

Several of the applicants — among them the writer — will pay their own way. It is for those who are less fortunate, who have no more than their services to offer, that the financial campaign is being made. Other state universities in the neighborhood have sent units; Washington University at St. Louis sent its quota last week; even the Pacific coast is represented already in the field. Can we not put Missouri at least equal with the rest?

Checks mailed to me and made payable to J. A. Hudson, treasurer of the committee in charge, will be acknowledged with thanks. Anyone desiring to contribute next week or later should send his or her "bit" directly to Mr. Hudson.

an Surplus Food But Use Jars and Cans Wisely.

Don't have an empty preserving jar in your home next fall. There may be some difficulty in securing cans and preserving jars.

Reserve regular tight-sealing containers for vegetables, concentrated soups, meats, and fish.

Concentrate products so that each jar or can will hold as much food and as little water as possible.

Put up jams, jellies and preserves in glasses sealed with cork or paper and paraffin. Pack fruit juices in ordinary bottles.

Don't can anything that can be kept just as well dried or in other forms. Dry navy and mature Lima beans for winter use.

Produce in your garden lots of cabbage, potatoes, and root crops that can be kept for the winter without canning.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"THE DESTROYING ANGEL"

Mary Ladislas Will Be at the Fern in Photoplay Tragedy of Great Dramatic Power.

The kindling of love in a man's heart for Mary Ladislas in "The Destroying Angel," is, apparently the signal for tragedy to stalk forth. None escape it, and three pay the penalty with their lives. The thrall is finally dissipated when the right man with a charmed life appears, but until he does come upon the scene, a trail of human misery and blood marks Mary Ladislas' path during life. There is a powerful climax to "The Destroying Angel," affording Mabel Trunnelle as Mary Ladislas and Marc MacDermott as Hugh Whitaker every opportunity to rise to great dramatic heights.

A Home For Your Car

Here's a garage that will be a credit to any place. It isn't expensive to build, yet it combines all the good points of a complete home for the car. Wouldn't you like to have it to round out your group of buildings?

You'll notice, first of all, that good lighting has been provided for. You'll appreciate this feature more when you come to do a few jobs of repair work on a stormy day. The work bench is another convenience.

You're working at a disadvantage if you haven't a garage. Don't be without one

Advertising Lowers Cost of Distribution

GREATER than all Treaties ever signed—is the Civilizing Power of Advertising—still in its infancy—but destined to weld the peoples of all states, nations and continents into one huge co-operative Union for the purchase of the world's goods wherever they may be most skillfully, economically and efficiently produced. That the growth of advertising may so distribute life's necessities and luxuries that their cost to mankind be constantly less is the ambition of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, who meet in their Thirteenth Annual Convention, in the City of St. Louis, June 3rd to 7th—this year.

NEWS FROM ALL NORTHWEST MISSOURI

The man recently captured and held at Kirksville as one of the ruffians that mistreated and robbed the 90-year-old Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson near Cora, has broken jail and so far has not been retaken. Mr. Stephenson died recently as a result of the robbery and about that time the suspect held at Kirksville became very ill and begged to be taken to Milan for medical treatment. At Milan he was again lodged in jail and suddenly recovered from his weakened condition to the remarkable extent that he pried the lock off the jail door, climbed over the cages and escaped from an upstairs window.

An unusual record of patriotic service has been earned by the Abe Trent family at Princeton, says the Post. With a grandfather in the Revolutionary War, his father in the Black Hawk War, himself and four brothers in the Civil War, a son in the Spanish-American War, and a grandson now in the Third Missouri regiment, the Trents may well feel that they are doing their bit.

A $2,000 barn, that of W. H. Patterson, east of Mound City, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin one night last week. The loss of contents amounted to another $3,000, including 1,000 bushels of oats, 1,500 bushels of corn, 15 tons of hay and five sows and their litters. This, says the News-Jeffersonian, was one of the largest barns in Holt county, being practically three stories high.

A $102 wagon load of corn was marketed at Fortescue, one day last week, by Hugh Henry.

If approved by the voters on May 31 a bond issue of $15,000 will be floated at Grant City for the purpose of adding several rooms to the present school building. The plan will include the furnishing of the third story which is now unused and the addition of domestic science and manual training rooms in the basement.

Quite conveniently for the housecleaning season the Andrew County jail has been without a prisoner for several days and the caretaker has taken advantage of this condition to clean, fumigate and re-tint the interior of the jail until the Savannah Reporter declares it is really inviting.

Totally blind, nearly helpless, 82 years old and a constant sufferer, James Early of Grant City, found it in his heart the other day to dictate a very cheerful half-column message to the Times thanking his friends for a recent postcard shower. He concludes by saying: "Experience teaches me that we live more upon hope than enjoyment. May God bless you and send you good health which is better than all the riches of this world."

The distinction of being the first granddaughter of the Mound City high school—the first person to graduate whose parents also were graduates of the school—is borne by Miss Clara Smith, a member of this year's class.

Overhead irrigation has proved successful on the farm of H. A. Bell, near Hardin. By using a system of pipes, Mr. Bell kept an acre of celery and other truck in fine growing condition throughout the hottest days of last summer. The system is now being extended to cover two acres.

When Mrs. A. D. Freeman, of near Morton, celebrated her 90th birthday last week she stood beneath an elm tree and two sugar maples that were planted there when she and her late husband bought the farm at $1.25 an acre, in 1854. At that time they traded a calf for a log house in which to begin their pioneer life.

A letter that sent a young man to war is mentioned by the Princeton Post. A young man living several miles north of Princeton received a letter from his mother in Germany. In it his mother said that her other two sons had been killed in the German army and that she wished the kaiser was dead. The letter had been censored by German officials who had scribbled across it the brutal message to the young man in America that by the time the letter reached him his mother would have been shot for her disloyal wish. The recipient of the letter went at once to a recruiting office and offered his service to Uncle Sam to help stamp out German imperialism.

The "Tragedies of Rodman Hill" is the subject of a remarkable story in the Richmond Missourian. Three miles south of Richmond the road climbs Rodman hill, an abrupt rise of 125 feet. Alongside lies a farm of some 8 or 10 acres. On this farm and short stretch of highway no less than twelve violent deaths have occurred since pioneer times. First a pioneer, covered with deer skins sought to stalk a deer there and was shot by another hunter. A whiskey still was once operated there and caused a murder. Robbers shot a traveler whom they mistook for a government paymaster on his way to Fort Leavenworth. At the little farm cabin a dog knocked over a gun that was leaning against the wall and the load, thus discharged, shot and killed a babe at its mother's breast. Following these came a long train of accidental and sudden deaths making a record stranger than fiction.

With the instincts of a true poet, The Bethany Republican's Eagleville correspondent, Mrs. O. W. Curry, sees something good even in the dandelion. After noting the universal warfare that is made on this persistent plant, Mrs. Curry concludes: "Oh, strong, eternal, trusting Dandelion, would I had faith and love and purity like thine, to never falter when my scul is crushed, to smile and hope when joy with pain is hushed. You are the tears of angels glittering in the grass, now turned to smiles, that those may see who pass. I sing your praise, for valor such as thine, must not pass unobserved, brave little Dandelion."

Blockade runners with cargoes of booze have a hard time getting past the Mercer county officials. The latest attempt was made by three men enroute from Saline to Lineville with a 50-gallon barrel of Old Taylor, a 40-gallon barrel of alcohol and 10 cases containing 240 pints of whiskey addressed to the Craney Drug Co. The Princeton Post tells of a lively chase in which the officers captured the three drivers and confiscated the big cargo of firewater.

TESTIMONIALS FOR MEDICINES

Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company Publishes Only Genuine Ones.

The testimonials published by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company come unsolicited. Before they are used the Company takes great care to inform itself about the writer. Never knowingly, has it published an untruthful letter, never is a letter published without written consent signed by the writer.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness.

It has relieved women from some of the worst forms of female ills, from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, nervousness, weakness, stomach troubles and from the blues.

It is impossible for any woman who is well and who has never suffered to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; and their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

OBITUARY.

Miss Iona Bell King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jud King, answered the death angel's call last Friday evening at 9 o'clock. She was 17 years 10 months and 5 days old when she fell asleep.

She was a faithful and devoted daughter and a loving sister. During the last two months of health she untiringly nursed her brother and mother through very serious illness. She complained of feeling bad during the latter part of her mother's illness, but would not give up to the physician's care until a week before the last came.

Her entire life was spent in and around Pickering, where she made many friends. Six of her girl friends acted as pall bearers. The funeral services were held at the Christian church at 2 o'clock, and the remains were laid to rest in the White Oak cemetery near Pickering.

She leaves to mourn her loss her father and mother, five brothers and two sisters. One little sister who died in infancy preceded her.

Their many friends sympathize with them in their bereavement.

"Sometimes when all life's lessons have been learned,
And the sun and stars forevermore
have set,
The things which our weak judgments here have spurned,
The things o'er which we've grie with lashes wet,
Will flash before us out of life's d night,
And shine as the stars in the de est tint of blue,
Then we shall see how all God's pl were right,
And how, what seemed reproof, love most true."
